Max Humphrey
for Hartmann & Forbes

product Gingham
standout Based in Portland, Oregon, the interior designer drops his second collection of woven-to-size window coverings, among them this natty mid-scale check in ramié, a fiber whose natural variation lends softness to the gridlike pattern. hartmannforbes.com

Kho di Faiz
for Abstracta

product Vika
standout Encompassing a floor screen (with optional integrated lighting) and pendant fixture, the acoustic collection dampens low- and high-frequency noise levels courtesy of soft, sound-absorbing PET cores covered with Texfel felt. Through Unika View. unikaview.com

Piero Lissoni
for Trefrog

product Xilo, Santos standout The maker celebrates its big 2-0 with the debut of new prefinished FSC-certified Designer Veneers—including six by the Italian icon—and switching to a more flexible and sustainable color-matched wood backer that results in cleaner edges. trefrogveneer.com

Knitiki Kennedy Grantham
for Balwith Keeler

product Luminescence
standout The brand creative director expands her Bijou collection of jewelry-inspired brass hardware with historically rooted knob and pull designs like this art deco-esque sunburst, in finishes such as new gunmetal and black nickel. balwith-keeler.com
