FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HARTMANN&FORBES EARNS #4 SPOT ON OREGON'S 100 BEST GREEN WORKPLACES LIST, CELEBRATING 14 CONSECUTIVE YEARS OF RECOGNITION

Underscoring Hartmann&Forbes' commitment to responsible design and environmental stewardship

June 2026 | Tualatin, OR – Hartmann&Forbes, the luxury design house renowned for its handcrafted window and wall coverings, has once again been recognized by Oregon Business Magazine as one of the 100 Best Green Workplaces in Oregon, earning the #4 spot and marking its 14th consecutive year receiving the distinction.

While honored by the recognition, Hartmann&Forbes views it as a reflection of something much larger: a longstanding commitment to stewardship that has shaped the company since its founding and continues to guide its work today.

At Hartmann&Forbes, sustainability is not a program or initiative. It is a philosophy woven into every aspect of the business. From responsibly sourcing rapidly renewable natural fibers and preserving artisan craftsmanship to thoughtfully considering the environmental impact of its operations, the company strives to create with intention and care.

This commitment extends beyond the products Hartmann&Forbes offers. It influences how the company works with its partners, supports its employees, and contributes to the broader design community. The belief is simple: beautiful design and responsible business practices should go hand in hand.

"Being recognized among Oregon's most environmentally responsible organizations for fourteen consecutive years is a meaningful honor," said Michael Jones, Founder of Hartmann&Forbes. "This recognition reflects the values that have guided our company from the beginning. We are grateful to our employees, clients, suppliers, and partners who share in this commitment and help make this recognition possible."

Being named one of Oregon's Best Green Workplaces year after year serves as a reminder that sustainability is built through consistent actions, thoughtful decisions, and a dedication to continuous improvement.

As Hartmann&Forbes celebrates this milestone, the company remains committed to creating products that honor both craftsmanship and the natural resources that make them possible.
